

Did you know that 70% of English spoken worldwide is spoken between two non-native speakers? It's an amazing fact and illustrates how important it is to learn with groups of students from different nationalities. This is why August is the perfect time to study in Regent Edinburgh. I've lived in this city for eleven years and every year I look forward to the Edinburgh Festival when performers from over 120 countries descend on the city. Walking down the street you are reminded that English is truly a global language spoken with many accents. I believe that this multicultural environment offers great benefits to language learners.
